
FAQs for Emerson Ecologics and Wellevate Suppliers

Why did Fullscript acquire Emerson Ecologics and how does this benefit suppliers?

We believe our combined platforms will accelerate the innovation required to simplify the delivery of the medicine required to heal our healthcare system. In combining our supply chain, resources, and offerings, we'll enhance our ability to serve patients and practitioners. We can also accelerate growth and investment to enhance our platform offering to attract more practitioners to integrative medicine. This growth will allow us to provide our supplier partners with a much broader reach in order to accelerate their growth.

In addition, existing supplier services will be amplified with the combination of patient direct and wholesale ordering platforms. You will get a full view of your business across all channels as well as brand-new industry insights.

Will Emerson Ecologics become Fullscript?

The combined company will be Fullscript. All assets of Emerson Ecologics will be transitioned to Fullscript as a united entity with enhanced expertise and leading technologies. There will be a thoughtful approach to migrate the Wellevate platform over to the Fullscript platform in the next few months. The Emerson Ecologics (EE.com) platform is not changing.
